"HAY"

I am now in the market for hay at the top price, and can give you as good service as any buyer, or better, as I have ample storage in case of scarcity of cars, and this has been the greatest trouble at Waldo. I use a gasoline hay press and there is nothing better on the market in shape of a hay press. I don't ask you for any fuel, no chance of burning your buildings as with a steam engine. For prices and other information call on or telephone C. W. Conklin at Waldo, who will always be at your service and will give you interest his very best attention.

DECISION IS WITHHELD

Court Refuses to Take Children From Mother.

MAY BE CALLED AT ANY TIME

Mother is Given Some Sound Advice.

Edna Deal May Have the Custody of The Children so Long as Her Conduct is Considered by the Court to be Proper.

The hearing in the case of the Marion County Humane society against Edna Deal was completed Wednesday evening in probate court and Judge Spencer announced that his decision would be withheld indefinitely.

Complaint was made to the humane society by Alice Cole, the mother of Mrs. Deal. It developed in the hearing of the case that Mrs. Deal is the mother of four daughters, none of them being full sisters. It was further brought out that she did not raise any one of her daughters past the age of three years and the court after the introduction of this evidence did not consider giving the custody of either of the children to Mrs. Deal.

From the evidence introduced, Judge Spencer did not feel justified in taking the custody of the children from the mother and placing it with the authorities of the children's home, but decided to reserve his decision.

Before dismissing Mrs. Deal, Judge Spencer gave her very clearly to understand that the proceeding was not complete and that it might be called up at any time; that it depended altogether upon her conduct whether she would be allowed to retain the custody of the children.

The custody of Hazel Tavenway, aged 13, and Arthur Deal, aged 5, is involved in the case. Hazel Tavenway is a daughter of Mrs. Deal by a former marriage.

A Happy Husband
"Our house used to smell soapy and steamy washdays," says a well-known man, "but since my wife began buying Hewitt's Easy Task Laundry soap, there is no more need of that. I've investigated this soap and find it is made of pure coconut oil, cleanest, tallow, brax and naphtha, and that it not only cleans, but antiseptics clothes, cooking vessels and everything else washed with it. We tried it first by trying two cakes for ten cents, with the understanding that our money would be refunded if it didn't make good. Of course, it made good."

SOCIETY and CLUBS

The Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the First Presbyterian church held their regular meeting in the parlors of the church Wednesday afternoon. The attendance was unusually large and the sessions of the societies proved very interesting and beneficial.

The Foreign society held the first meeting. In the absence of Mrs. C. B. Kling, Mrs. Jonas Conklin acted as leader and the subject of the day, "Book Review," was taken up.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Ruth Hummer, after which the society sang, "My Jesus I Love Thee."

Mrs. S. C. Bates reviewed the book, "Fifty-three Years in Syria," the autobiography of Dr. H. H. Jessup.

Miss Joan Watkins told of the Laos of north of Siam, and Mrs. Jonas Conklin spoke entertainingly of the publications of the Presbyterian board.

Mrs. R. C. Bowditch gave a review of "The Price of Africa." Mrs. R. C. Bowditch led in prayer and a number of others followed.

Immediately at the close of the program of the Foreign society the Home society held its meeting with Mrs. H. C. Bowditch as leader.

Mrs. James Fies rendered a solo entitled "What Must It Be To Be There." Mrs. Charles Harriman told of the missionaries at the general assembly, together with interesting items gleaned from the recent assembly meeting.

Miss Elizabeth Dairy gave interesting talks on different missionary fields and Miss May, of LaJolla, California, spoke of Miss Granger's work among the Mexicans and Mormons. This talk was especially interesting to the Marion ladies because of the fact that Miss Granger was formerly a Marion lady. Miss May has been privileged with hearing many missionaries relate their experiences and her remarks were most interesting. She also told of a small mission church which is located in LaJolla.

Miss Hughes told of the religious life in colleges and of the forming of a vacation home by the girls in college at Mt. Holyoke.

The meeting of the Home society closed with singing and the Misses' benediction. Supper was served in the basement by Class B and an hour was spent socially.

Miss Ruth Brockett's pretty lawn party Wednesday was for the pleasure of the Ruby Seal club.

The stretches of green at the Brockett home, east Church street, were dotted with the bright colors of Japanese lanterns to add to the attractiveness of growing shrubbery and flowers. Miss Brockett greeted her guests in the cool of the veranda and later invited them to enjoy croquet and various out-of-door games. At twilight there was a delicious picnic spread, after which the girls flitted about merrily beneath the glow of the lighted lanterns of the Flowery Kingdom.

Enjoying the charming affair aside from club members were Misses Irene Ewell, Irene and Berenice Sautter, Gladys Davis and Josephine McKinstry.

Miss Grace Barron, of east Center street, will entertain at the next meeting.

The C. L. P. club enjoyed an afternoon of informal sociability with Mrs. Martin, of west Columbia street, yesterday.

While members were assembling there was a musical program and later two exciting and mirth-provoking contests in which Mrs. Cora Harriman and Mrs. Thomas Moore captured the rewards of skill. An elaborate course luncheon was served just previous to adjournment.

Mrs. Mary Anderson and Mrs. Cora Harriman partook of club hospitality.

The next club hostess will be Mrs. Elmer McLean, of Park street.

The Harmonie society met at the Cherry street home of Mrs. Christine Drollinger, Wednesday evening.

The society took up the regular business of the month and after its disposal enjoyed a social and conversational hour. A refreshment table spread with the dainties of the season was a feature.

There was an excellent attendance. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Agnes Edelman, of east Center street.

A special C. D. & M. car conveyed the plenipotentiaries from the Lutheran Sunday school to Glenmary park yesterday.

At 9 o'clock, the jolly crowd, laden with heaped-up hamper and the paraphernalia for out-of-door amusements, boarded the car at the Lutheran station. The ride to the park was a merry one and a significant introduction to the day of pleasure that followed. At the noon hour a picnic spread of every conceivable viand was laid in the grove and before the return trip, an elaborate supper was enjoyed under the leafy roof of trees. The merry-makers reached the city about 8:30 o'clock, tired and happily reminiscent.

Mrs. Clifford B. Kling, Miss Hazel Kling, Miss Louise Kling and Mr. Frank Longhore left this morning for a brief stay at Cedar Point and adjacent lake resorts.

Mrs. Mary Evans and Mr. David Evans are enjoying a lake voyage into northern ports.

As a farewell courtesy to Miss Mildred Barnes, who has been the summer house guest of Mrs. Fred E. Guthery at her attractive Delaware avenue home, Mrs. Guthery entertained quite informally with four tables at bridge last evening.

After the interest of the scores, there was a delicious early supper served on terrace. Final pleasures were musical and conversational.

Miss Barnes has become quite a favorite among the younger set during her extended Marion visit and many pretty social affairs have centered about her charming personality. She returns to Indiana this week.

Miss Lillian Burgess has gone to Kingston and Lancaster to be the guest of friends and relatives. During her visit she will spend a week in the country.

A company of young folks were pleasantly entertained at the country home of P. O. Boganuright, two miles east of Morrow Tuesday evening. The affair was in celebration of the nineteenth birthday anniversary of the hostess, Miss Orpha Hero.

The hours were whizzed away with music and games, and late in the evening a tempting collation in which a huge frosted birthday cake figured conspicuously, was served.

Those present were: Misses Ora Nilsen, Goldie Neff, Clara Garwood, Lucy Baer, Myrtle Hansey, Desa Neff, Francis Hite, Lillie Garwood, Edna Frazier, Gladys Baer, Edith Wilson Orpha Hero, and Miss Eltha Bartholomew of Pleasant Hill. Messrs. Clyde Go-baugh, Albert Sheff, Willie Hite, Ed Baer Pearl Wilson, Alonzo Owings, Henry Hite, Delpha, Neff, Harley Owings, William Wilson, Frank Baer Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hero and daughter Mildred.

There was a well attended meeting of Friendschaft Verein with Mrs. Frank Esser of Pearl street Tuesday afternoon.

Routine business was transacted and was followed by a delightful social session. Delicious light refreshments were served.

Miss Besse Dundore, Miss Anna Sechrist, Miss Mayme Sechrist and Miss Minnie Stark made up a party yesterday to spend the remainder of the week at Rye Beach. They will visit the lake resorts in the vicinity of the beach during their stay.

Sunday school mates and friends of Miss Hazel Rudasill complimented her with a shower of pretty gifts at the Lewis Meister home on Walnut street Tuesday evening.

The house was made bright with

WENDLING ACTS LIKE

A Guilty man—Attempts to Escape From Detective Carney.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 11.—Joseph Wendling, the alleged slayer of P. L. Alma Kellner, of Louisville, Kentucky, made an attempt to escape from a chief of Detectives Carney while being taken from the train at Olney, Illinois, according to dispatches received here early today.

The train from St. Louis reached Olney about 5 a. m. and Carney had arranged for an automobile to meet him there, in which, it is supposed, he intended to complete the trip to Kentucky. When Carney started to leave the train, Wendling resisted and in the melee kicked Dan Walsh, a reporter for the Louisville Courier-Journal, off the platform of the car. Walsh was not seriously injured.

After Wendling had been secured he was handcuffed to Carney and hurried away in the automobile. It is believed Carney intends to smuggle Wendling into Louisville to guard against any possible demonstration.

Carney had had a stormy time in St. Louis and when he hurried his prisoner through the gates of the prison station last night a patrolman, thinking Carney might again be "putting something over" on the Chief of Police Young, called Young on the telephone and asked if he should stop the detective. Young replied: "No, for God's sake let him go."

Carney is accused of "double-crossing" the local officers and nearly lost his prisoner through habeas corpus proceedings.

EXPERTS STORY ABOUT CRIPPEN CASE

By United Press Wire.
London, Aug. 11.—After a five hours examination of the evidence that will be submitted when the coroner's investigation into the supposed murder of Edie Elmore Crippen is resumed, experts have decided according to a statement by the press association, today, that the body now being held at the coroner's office is that of a woman who had under gone an operation before death.

This conclusion is in keeping with the statement cabled to the London Chronicle by its Quebec correspondent last week, that Crippen intimated to the authorities that his wife died from the effects of an operation which he performed upon her.

The experts found nothing in the evidence to disclose the identity of the body.
